Rockwood Co-Chairman and Co-CEO Interviewed on CNBC's Power Lunch

NEW YORK, NY, June 11, 2008 -- Co-Chairman and Co-CEO of Rockwood Real Estate Advisors Daniel McNulty was featured on CNBC's Power Lunch on June 11th, 2008 in an interview with CNBC's Diana Olick and Harvey Green of Marcus Millichap Real Estate. The segment addressed recent data releases pertaining to the commercial real estate debt markets and also provided a rebuttal to a just-released Goldman Sachs study on commercial real estate values.

Mr. McNulty spoke to commercial real estate's steady underlying fundamentals which have driven the sector's resilience vis-à-vis the residential market, stating that "the fundamental issue that's impaired pricing has really been the debt markets and the equation of the commercial market and the residential market which are operating very differently."
